

ABSTRACT

A threaded sleeve (8) that is connected with the second fitting part (2) is engaged with the threaded spindle (5) between both bearings (6, 7), so as to be adjusted axially. The threaded spindle (5) is axially supported on both ends in opposite directions on

- 5 allocated bearing (6, 7) in each case and an adjustment of the elevation of both fitting parts (1, 2) is made possible.